

Candidate genes in the Notch2 study

A literature-motivated panel shown in full, regardless of statistical significance

Three biological samples per group; horizontal bars mark medians, and every point is shown. Each panel has its own y-axis range. Panel choice follows the source study and its analysis code. Expression associations alone do not establish direct regulation.