

Variation between biological samples

Blind variance-stabilizing transformation; no samples removed

A PCA: 500 most variable genes

B Sample distances: all retained genes

WT = wild type; KO = Notch2 conditional knockout. Each point represents one biological RNA sample (pooled animals). PCA selection uses variance, not differential-expression significance. Distance order uses average-linkage clustering.